PARENTING

Star Family Services

STAR family services are designed to help families navigate the waters of parenthood and childhood. There are many risk factors that face youth today and often families are not equipped to face the challenges that come. Mid-Coast Family Services case workers join a family to help mitigate some of the problems that these families face. Through evidence-based practices and curriculum, the case workers provide skills classes, individual sessions for support, and family sessions to better equip each client to face struggles like anger, truancy, behavior problems at school, and much more. Case workers provide services in school and at the home as needed by each individual situation.

To discuss STAR family services contact atippit@midcoastfamily.org or call our main office at 361-575-7842.
